

let his face shine upon you," said Mr. Mills tenderly, and the meeting closed.

This afternoon there will be a special meeting for women. The services will be preached at 3:30. Arrangements have been made to have bibles in each of the three sections of the hall. Books may be left in the nursery any time after 3:30. Twenty members have volunteered their services, and the little ones will be well taken care of. Tonight there will be a special service to you men. The seats on the main floor will be reserved for men. Those on the sides of the gallery will be reserved for men accompanied by women, and those at the end of the gallery for women without escorts.

Tomorrow the "Midway Sabbath" and Mr. Mills believe that a large number of the business houses of the city will close. Last night he exhorted his hearers to do their shopping today or far as possible and urged them to give their influence to induce merchants to close their stores. Neighborhood prayer meetings will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. At 9 o'clock services will be held in the various churches. At 10 a.m., 3:30 p.m. and 7:45 p.m. Mr. Mills will preach sermons in Locksley Hall. Merchants who intend to close their stores may obtain placards prepared by the committee on advertising at the board of trade room today and tomorrow morning.

AFTERNOON MEETING.

Mr. Mills Discusses the Restoration of Peter.

There was a fair-sized audience in Locksley Hall at the afternoon meeting yesterday. Nearly every seat on the main floor was taken.

The Rev. W. A. Frye made the opening prayer. He thanked the Almighty for the results of the meeting and prayed that the kingdom of heaven might be built upon earth. Mr. Mills read the scripture lesson from Luke xxii, 19. He selected his text from Mark xvi, 7—"And Peter."

The revivalist said there was no other character in history who afforded him so much comfort and so much fear as Peter. He had the opportunity of the encounter. He never doubted the divinity of Christ. He knew upon whom he believed, yet in spite of that he fell. "When I think of Peter's character, Peter's conscience and Peter's fall," said he, "I tremble in every limb, and ask, Who of us shall stand?" But when I remember his magnificent courage and bravery displayed in the latter part of his life I ask, Who of us may not be saved?

I want to call your attention to four things about this message. First, the Lord remembered his unfaithful disciples. Second, he takes especial pains to assure them of his love. Much of the Bible is devoted to messages of love to the prodigal son. Jesus not only remembers his unfaithful disciples, but he highlights their transgression. He seemed to have forgotten Peter's denial—never remembered, but wanted to see him among the first after the resurrection. The Lord not only forgives his unfaithful disciples, but he uses them in his service. Who was it that preached the sermon on the day of Pentecost? Peter. We wouldn't have let him do that, would we, brothers? I'm afraid not. Who loves most? He that is most forgiven. I believe there are two messages that come to us today—Go find Peter. You thought he would go back to his drink, to his ways of sin, and he did, but go find him and in your tenderness of sympathy make it seem as if his sin were your own. Go find Peter and tell him Jesus wants to see him. The Lord Jesus is calling you, O, provident child, come home."

WILL BE CLOSED FRIDAY.

Many Business Firms Will Suspend Business Tomorrow.

Following is an imperfect list of the stores which will be closed tomorrow. Some of the committees have not yet sent in their papers and some lines of trade have not been canvassed at all. It is most earnestly hoped by the general committee that all who can will cooperate in making the day a memorable one. Many merchants are yet considering whether they can close consistently and do all justice.

Request of Evangelist Mills.

Report of THE HERALD. I notice in the reports of the sermons of Evangelist Mills that he frequently refers to the lost, but in terms that seem to me altogether too vague and uncertain. Will the reverend gentleman be so kind as to preach a discourse defining in more explicit terms what he believes to be the fate of the lost, the nature, duration of their punishment, etc.? He will thus confer a favor upon at least one of his

TROUBLE WILL FOLLOW.

It Should Be Understood and Looked After Now.

Some Things Which People Cannot Well Explain.

This May Be Absolutely New to the Average Reader.

Many people wonder what it means when there is a tingling or prickling sensation with a more or less numb feeling in the hands, feet or limbs. It means that there is a condition of the nerves which is called partial paralysis. If it continues to increase, it may become total paralysis. In addition to the above sensations there is a pain in the head, a general bad feeling, with weak, weary or excessively tired feeling in the limbs. It may be taken as certain that paralysis will result if something is not immediately done to avert this terrible disaster.

All should remember that in such cases it is the neglect of these first symptoms which results in the fatal and dreaded shock of paralysis. If a person will use the right remedy when the above feelings and sensations appear, all danger of a shock can be averted off.

It is a fact that paralysis and kindred nervous diseases are increasing at an alarming rate, thousands about us neglecting to realize what these first symptoms, so apparently trivial, really mean until they become prostrated.

A very interesting story is told by Mr. G. W. Ryerson, who is a well-known business man, residing at 261 Eighth Avenue, New York city.

"In March, 1882," he said, "I had a slight stroke of paralysis of the left side, which was followed in about two weeks by a second attack, which completely paralyzed the left side of my body.

G. W. RYERSON, 260.

"I treated with different physicians without any benefit whatever, until December of the same year, when I was induced to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and now after three months' use of the remedy I am almost completely restored to health. I have the full use of my speech and limbs and work hard every day. I know that this wonderful medicine has saved my life."

Now, the moral of this is, do not neglect yourself. If you are not feeling just right, if you have symptoms and feelings you cannot explain, take at once this wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and it will very speedily put you in good health again. It will always prevent paralysis if taken in time, and is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless.

It is endorsed and recommended by physicians as the greatest blood and nerve remedy; indeed it is the discovery of one of our best known physicians, Dr. Greene of 35 W. 14th Street, New York, the successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. The Doctor can be consulted free, personally or by letter.
